

Ceramic Industry

March 2009

Netzsch Acquires Calorimeter Product Families from TIAx

The NETZSCH Analyzing & Testing Business Unit recently announced its acquisition of TIAx's accelerating rate calorimeters (ARC®) and automatic pressure tracking adiabatic calorimeters (APTAC™). These products will be merged with NETZSCH's worldwide Thermal Analysis business. The new product line will be manufactured as part of the current instrument series at NETZSCH Instruments, Inc., which is headquartered in Boston, Mass., and is a subsidiary of NETZSCH-Gerätebau GmbH in Germany. For additional information, visit www.netzsch.com or www.tiaxllc.com.